

Get to Know the Sky

The sky is always changing but we often don't notice. Why not get to know it better?

Go outside and look at the sky (never look directly at the sun). What colours and patterns can you see? Draw or paint the sky in one of the picture frames. Then keep sky watching and drawing - on starry nights, as the sun rises or sets, on sunny and cloudy days.

Which sky did you like the most?
Why?

How do you feel when you spend time noticing the sky?

Look up some famous sky paintings and get inspired!

- The Starry Night, Vincent Van Gogh
- Above the Clouds, Georgia O'Keefe

- Cloud Study, John Constable
- Norman Castle Sunrise, JMW Turner
